

Squeeze and Snap Dough

(It's called 'Squeeze and Snap' because you can squeeze it and snap it!)

1 cup of cornflour
2 tablespoons of oil (to start with)
2 tablespoons of shampoo or washing up liquid (to start with)

Put one cup of cornflour into a bowl
Add the oil and have a little stir
(it will go lumpy – don't worry!)
Add the shampoo or washing up liquid
(You could use strawberry or other scented shampoo – it'll smell delicious!)

This is where this dough can appear a bit tricky. You have to get your hands in and work it for a while before it comes together. If it feels too dry then add more shampoo/washing up liquid.

If you want a different texture then add some warm water (slowly) until you get a lovely doughy consistency.

It should feel like a very smooth and silky dough when you squeeze it.

The unique thing about this dough is that you can 'snap' it and then squash it back together!

Although it always does basically the same thing, this dough can be different every time you make it depending on the quantities of liquid that you use. It is good fun to experiment (if a little messy!)

You could of course also add colour, or texture – whatever you fancy.
